Behind the Making

Full Talks Programme & Sponsors of Collect 2018

22–25 February 2018, Saatchi Gallery

Collect: The International Art Fair for Contemporary Objects is about more than admiring and acquiring exceptional artwork from hundreds of the world's most talented makers; it's also an opportunity to explore and engage with some of the most intriguing ideas and personal stories in modern-day craft practice. Taking place on three days of the fair, the Collect Talks programme brings together leading craft thought leaders, gallerists, historians, critics, collectors and craft artists to examine the issues influencing the makers and markets driving contemporary craft, looking to both past and future to identify what making means today – and where it is heading.

Angus Ross represented by Scotland: Craft & Design.

Featuring a number of the exhibiting artists and galleries, the programme complements and enriches the work on show in the main body of the fair and the special displays: Collect Open, Collect Spotlights and Masters of British Studio Pottery.

Comprising panel discussions, artist presentations and interviews, the programme aims to provide insights into modern creative practice, inspire thought and provoke debate.

FRIDAY 23 FEBRUARY

11:30 In Focus – Jewellery

Gemstone specialist Joanna Hardy, collector and curator Jo Bloxham, jewellery artist Lin Cheung and Goldsmiths' Fair director David Mills explore the influence of the patron and collector in the evolution of fine-art jewellery.

14:00 Eyes on the Prize

BBC producer Corinna Jones discusses the meaning of prizes for artists and galleries with Crafts Council Director Rosy Greenlees, the LOEWE Foundation's president Sheila Loewe, chair of the Jury of the LOEWE Craft Prize Anatxu Zabaldehena and winner of the inaugural Woman's Hour Craft Prize Phoebe Cummings.

At Collect 2018, Sheila Loewe will be sharing her insights into the purpose and impact of craft prize initiatives as part of the Collect Talks programme.

'With each time-honoured piece, generations of artisans have contributed to a collective narrative, expressing a universal appreciation for culture, creativity, and cognizance. We are very happy to have found in Collect and the Crafts Council a strong partner with whom to celebrate these long-standing values in their contemporary form.'

– Sheila Loewe, President, LOEWE Foundation

Sponsor: Liaigre

Since Christian Liaigre established his bespoke furniture company in the mid 1980s, the Liaigre name has been synonymous with luxurious, sophisticated simplicity and become closely associated with exclusive interior-architecture projects around the world. Liaigre's pioneering modernist approach is based on classic furniture design, and today, the brand creates and retails a range of bespoke furniture, lighting, fabric, leather and accessories in 11 countries across Europe, the US and Asia.

At Collect, Liaigre will present the Liaigre Prize, which includes a commission for the winning artist.

'Since Liaigre was established, design and exceptional craftsmanship has been at the heart of the business. We collaborate on a regular basis with both UK and international artists, and continue to support and develop craft and making in the UK through partnership with the Crafts Council. The Crafts Council is a very special charity and makes an impressive impact on the creative industry.'

– Asli Bohane, UK Managing Director

Sponsor: Firmdale Hotels

The high standards of excellence and unique townhouse style of decoration have made Firmdale one of the most admired boutique-hotel groups in the world, with 10 award-winning luxury properties, including: Ham Yard Hotel in Soho, The Soho Hotel, Covent Garden Hotel, Charlotte Street Hotel and Haymarket Hotel in London's West End, Dorset Square Hotel in Marylebone, Knightsbridge Hotel near Harrods, Number Sixteen in South Kensington and Crosby Street Hotel and The Whitby Hotel in New York.

At Collect, Kit Kemp will present the One to Watch prize, which includes a commission for the winning artist and a stay in a Firmdale hotel.

'We are delighted to be associated with the Craft Council to encourage craft making of every kind. Craft is ageless and cares little for fashion. A beautifully crafted piece of work speaks for itself and stands the test of time.'

– Kit Kemp, Co-founder and Design Director, Firmdale Hotels

Sponsor: Newby Teas

Newby Teas is the most awarded international brand in luxury tea and committed to the preservation of the character, history and culture of tea worldwide. Newby Teas is substantially owned by the N Sethia Foundation, which also owns the Chitra Collection – the world's largest and finest private collection of historic teawares.

As the Collect 2018 Official Tea Partner, Newby Teas will be providing a selection of fine teas for all fairgoers attending Collect Talks.

"Newby Teas is incredibly proud to support Collect and the Crafts Council. We, at Newby Teas strongly believe in both the mission behind the Crafts Council and all the great work they do – providing platforms, forums and support for creativity, skills, education, innovation and legacy within the art, design and craft sectors. Newby Teas reflects and integrates these values into our own ethos and practice."

– Mr N K Sethia - Chairman and Founder, Newby Teas

Sponsor: Chapel Down

Chapel Down is England's leading wine producer, based on a 68-acre estate in Tenterden, Kent, within an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty. It's still and sparkling wines have won multiple awards over the years, earning places on the wine lists of many of the UK's finest restaurants and the shelves of leading retailers, and contributing greatly to the growing international reputation of English winemaking. In November 2017, the company launched a new range of grape-based spirits, and will be presenting its Chapel Down Brut to Collect visitors.

About the Crafts Council

Leading innovation in making across the UK, the Crafts Council is the country's foremost authority on contemporary craft in all its forms. Founded in 1971, its role as guardian and champion of national craft practice has evolved to include exploring and enabling new possibilities, making methods and technologies. Having played a pivotal role in the development of some of the UK's most accomplished and respected makers, the Crafts Council is devoted to finding and empowering new talent across the craft sector, creating platforms for emerging makers to show their work, forging connections between people and industries, and providing practical and inspirational resources to support the careers of our next generation of makers.
